

Land Lease Agreements

Full Description

Land Lease Agreements are used whenever the government owns the land of the site of a project and leases it to the operating company or concessionaire for the period of the concession contract. In an independent power project, the Land Lease Agreement could be a stand-alone agreement, or its main provisions can also be included in the Power Purchase Agreement or Implementation Agreement.

The following is a sample stand alone Land Lease Agreement created for an independent power project in South East Asia.
